

Brewers Pick Tuesday for Big Drought

average containing one-half of 1 per cent alcohol. Some of the saloonkeepers braver than the rest, say they will keep open to sell the new product, but admit they have little faith in it.

It became known yesterday that a single suit for all those interested in testing the validity of the enforcement act will be instituted in the United States District Court Tuesday or Wednesday. The brewers will contend in this action that the act is confiscatory and unconstitutional, and seek to obtain an injunction restraining the Federal authorities from enforcing it. They have already asserted that while they are willing to assume that Congress had the right to pass the prohibition law, it had no right, in view of the changed conditions, to enact the enforcement measure.

To support this contention it is believed the brewers will cite the rate cases in which the United States Supreme Court recognized changed conditions. They will also seek to prove the war emergency is over and there is no need for prohibition to conserve grain.

William H. Hirst, counsel for the New York State Brewers' Association, in discussing this point yesterday, said:

"It is no longer of interest or profit to discuss whether Congress had a right to pass the war time prohibition act after the armistice was signed, but, assuming that Congress was right even in the extreme purpose which may be credited to it in enacting the measure, that purpose has now been served. Congress provided that war prohibition still remain in effect until the conclusion of the war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization. A recent judicial opinion was to the effect that Congress not only intended for the measure to endure during the war but until the army was demobilized. Inferentially it followed that upon demobilization the war prohibition act would fail. Well, demobilization has terminated. I am informed that this is a matter of official record in the War Department at Washington. The army is on a peace basis. Every one except the Anti-Saloon League leaders realizes that the war has long since ended."

Mr. Hirst said that he could not see where there would be any difficulty in enforcing the law. The hotel and cafe owners, he said, have already announced their intention of living up to it until they obtain relief through Presidential proclamation or judicial decree.

Prohibition in Scotland

Predicted by Dr. Jowett

Unless Britain and other European countries become bone dry quick y they will drop behind in the march of commercial and social progress. Taxes will trail along in the wake of the great United States which, with the impetus of prohibition, will lead the world in efficiency and production.

This was the prediction made by the Rev. Dr. John Henry Jowett, former pastor of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church, who sailed for Southampton yesterday on the White Star liner Adriatic to resume his duties as pastor of Westminster Chapel, London.

This was the first time Dr. Jowett had expressed himself publicly in this country on the subject of prohibition. Admitting that his prediction might seem incredible, he went further in prophecy, declaring that Scotland which has loved its ale and Scotch for centuries, would vote to go dry at the special election to be held in 1920. "The United States," said Dr. Jowett "is on the threshold of becoming bone dry. Within a few months prohibition will become a reality, and then observe the efficiency of the nation. Through the agency of prohibition America will set a pace so fast and steady that the nations of Europe will have to imitate her if they expect to hold their relative economic positions."

"A country which has prohibition will become 80 per cent more efficient than one which has none. This is a wonderful move for the United States, and the drink-ridden countries across the sea will have to follow in her footsteps or fall behind her in the great economic race. It will surprise many perhaps, that I make the assertion that Scotland next year will vote to go dry. I do not believe that it is realized here how far the temperance movement has progressed in Great Britain."

Newark Deacon Accused Of Embezzling $2,000

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Edwin A. Waters, of Newark superintendent of the payroll department of the Butterworth-Judson Corporation, dye manufacturers, was arrested late today on the charge of embezzling $2,000 from the company.

According to the police, Waters made a confession. He is a deacon in the Claremont Presbyterian Church, Jersey City, and president of the Bible class and Sunday school teacher of that church.

Waters, the police say, told them that since last July he has been leading "a riotous life," going to fashionable parties. One of the numerous parties, he said, was a pajama party he attended in Manhattan, at which there were several "gay women." He has a wife and a child nine years old.

American Flag Hissed By Italians at Fiume

FIUME, Oct. 25 (By The Associated Press).—The American flag was hissed when it was unfurled last evening in the Phonian Theater here, and when "The Star-Spangled Banner" was played by the orchestra, the audience cried: "Down with America! Down with Wilson! Long live greater Italy and Fiume!"

Several score of American sailors who were present and stood up when the American National Anthem was played also were hissed and slurring remarks were directed at them.

The demonstration occurred when an English company presented a "Parade of the Allies" during which the appearance of the Italian flag only was applauded.
